2008

Jami spent much of the season ranked No. 1 in the nation on the balance beam. Along the way, Jami tied for the Pac-10 title (Carly Janiga, Stanford), won the NCAA West Regional, became an All-American on the beam and won eight event titles on the season. In all, Jami tallied 18 event titles in 2008 and scored 9.9 or better 13 times. On the season, Jami "hit" 53 out of 56 routines (95%) including 14-14 on vault and bars. She earned All-Pac-10 honors in the all-around for the third straight year and competed in every event of every meet, running her total to 41 meets and 164 events in a row.

2007

Jami established herself as an All-American in 2007 making the second team on uneven bars. Her status as a steady, consistent high scorer for the Beavers continued to solidify in 2007 as she has once again performed every event at every meet for the second year in a row and finished the season with the eighth highest RQS in the all-around (39.465) in the nation. Performing as the anchor to the bars and beam lineups for most of the season and at the back half of the vault and floor lineups, Jami attained 17 scores of 9.9 or better and earned 17 individual titles (five all-around, four beam, three bars, three floor and two vault). In addition, Jami raised each of her career-high scores to 9.925 in 2007. In all, Jami "hit" 52 out of 56 routines (93%) in 2007 including going 14-14 on vault and bars. For the second year in a row, Jami was an All-Pac-10 selection in the all-around. Despite being just a sophomore, Jami was selected as a team captain for the 2007 season.

2006

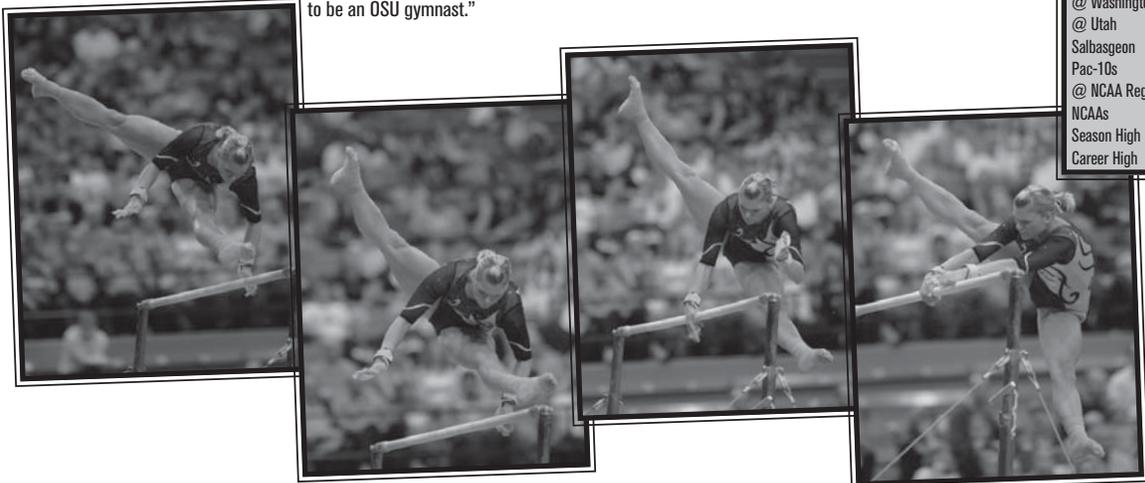

In one word Jami was a 'warrior' in 2006. Despite nagging heel and ankle injuries, Jami performed every event in every meet in 2006 and capped the regular season off by earning a share of the Pac-10 Freshman of the Year award. Although not 100% Jami's managed to put forth an effort that resulted in all but one of her scores counting toward the team score in 2006. Jami put together one of the best all-around performances (39.525) in Oregon State history at the Salbasgeon Suites Invitational in March, including scoring three 9.90s or better in the Beavers' victory. At the conclusion of the season, Jami's teammates chose her as the team's Most Valuable Gymnast and she also earned Co-Female Newcomer of the Year at OSU's annual Bennys Awards banquet.

2008

D'Anna underwent offseason shoulder surgery setting her behind in her training. Due to the rehabilitation, D'Anna's training got off to a slow start and she was never able to crack the bars lineup. D'Anna was chosen as OSU's NASPE (National Association for Sport and Physical Education) Outstanding Major of the Year. She was chosen for the honor by the faculty of OSU's Nutrition and Exercise Sciences department and was selected as the representative from OSU's College of Health and Human Science. D'Anna became OSU's 11th four-time NACGC/W Scholastic All-American.

2007

D'Anna had an outstanding season in the second position of the bars lineup, "hitting" eight out of nine routines this season. She did not "miss" since the season-opener at Florida. After serving as the alternate for four meets in the middle of the season, D'Anna returned to the lineup with a career-best 9.900 at Boise State. D'Anna scored 9.800 or higher four times this season. D'Anna was named to the Pac-10 All-Academic First Team for the second year in a row and had a paper published in the February 2007 issue of Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance. D'Anna earned her third straight NACGC/W Scholastic All-America honor.

2006

D'Anna made a dramatic improvement between her true freshman season of 2005 and the beginning of the 2006 season. D'Anna nailed down the alternate spot on the uneven bars early in the season. Despite being the alternate, D'Anna was called upon in eight of the first nine meets before the rest of the lineup got healthy enough to perform together at the Salbasgeon Suites Invitational. She was selected as a NACGC/W Scholastic All-American.

2008

In February, Tasha became the 11th gymnast in Oregon State history to score a perfect 10.0 when she achieved the feat on the floor exercise against BYU. Tasha scored 9.9 or better six of the 10 times she took the floor in '08. She scored 9.9 on the floor exercise to tie teammate Mandi Rodriguez for the NCAA West Regional event title. She scored 9.9 on vault and 9.95 on the floor to secure Pac-10 titles on each for the second time in her career. In total, Tasha notched 12 event titles in 2008 including five on vault and six on the floor. She was scratched from the beam and floor lineups in the third meet of the year against Arizona and needed three more meets before making a comeback on beam and floor. She never did return to the bars lineup competing three events for most of the rest of the season. Earned Pac-10 Specialist of the Week (Feb. 15) and Pac-10 Gymnast of the Week (Feb. 22). Tasha was an All-Pac-10 first team selection on vault and floor in '08.

2007

Tasha earned first team All-America status on vault following a 9.90 at the NCAA Championships. During Individual Finals, Tasha's first vault scored as the third-best vault of the competition but a fall on her second vault left her 11th in the nation. Tasha missed the start of the season with a knee injury suffered the day before the team left for Florida. After missing two meets, she nailed a vault at Arizona to score 9.875 to get her season started. Tasha showed minimal rust with a 39.100 in the all-around in her second meet of the season and has scored below 39-points just once this season. Tasha scored four career-bests at Washington in February scoring 9.925 on vault, 9.850 on bars and 9.950 on floor to total 39.550. She earned Pac-10 Gymnast of the Week honors following her performance at UW. Tasha has finished the season particularly strong as the Beavers' top all-arounder at Pac-10 Championships (39.475) and NCAA Regionals (39.350). Tasha "hit" 42 out of 44 routines in 2007 with no bigger score than her floor routine at regionals. Needing a 9.900 to propel the Beavers to the NCAA Championships, Tasha came through with a 9.925 routine to earn the South Central Regional floor title. Tasha tallied seven individual titles in 2007, four on floor, two on beam and one in the all-around.

2006

Tasha missed four meets in the middle of the season due to turf toe (three meets) and ankle (one meet) injuries. Tasha, who finally got healthy in time for the end of the season, won Pac-10 titles on vault and floor in her first meet back in the all-around competition. Tasha, whose hip-hop floor exercise quickly became a crowd favorite around Gill Coliseum, set her career-high on floor with 9.950 in the Salbasgeon Suites Invitational and then matched it at Pac-10s. Her 9.925 on vault at the Pac-10 Championships was also a season-high. In her last vault of the season at Nationals (9.850) just missed moving on to the Individual Finals but still earned her Second Team All-American status on the event. At the conclusion of the season, Tasha was recognized at OSU's Bennys Awards banquet as a Co-Female Newcomer of the Year.

Pre-Oregon State

Earned a spot on the national team in 2002, 2003 and 2005 ... Won national title on vault in 2005 and on floor exercise in 2003 ... Finished second in the all-around at Junior Nationals in 2002 and 2005 and finished third in 2003 ... Trained at Gymnastics Express under coaches Jeff and Linda Lutz.
