On the Web

Fans can find results from the the Stanford Invitational at www.wou-wolves.com under their track and field section. Fans can also check www.osubeavers.com for results and recaps of the track competition following the completion of the meet.

NCAA Championships

Laura Carlyle became the first Beaver athlete to qualify for the NCAA Indoor Championships last week when she set a new school record in the mile for the third time this season. Her time of 4:37.57 was good enough to qualify her for the championships and give her the 10th best time in the country.

Looking Back

The Track and Field team finished an extremely tough weekend of competition at the Stanford Invitational last weekend where they competed against the top collegiate and professional athletes in the country. Kinsey Gomez, Aly Nielson and Erin Jones all competed in the 5,000 meters for the first time this season. Kinsey Gomez ran the race in a time of 17:21.18 and now holds the fastest time in the event on the team. Audrey Botti and Lacey London both achieved season best times in the 1,500 meters with times of 4:39.06 and 4:39.17, respectively.

History Repeats

Oregon State has now had someone qualify for the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships for two straight seasons and with Laura Carlyle returning to the track this spring, the Beavers are hoping for a three-peat.

Records Are Meant To Be Broken

The Beavers competed in three indoor meets this season, and Laura Carlyle broke her own school record in the mile at each meet. Laura Carlyle beat her old school record in the mile for the third time this season at the UW Final Qualifier to keep herself on top of the list, while Brandin Cooks set a new school record in the 60 meter dash during his first time in an Oregon State track uniform at the Husky Invite.

From the Gridiron to the Track

Even though the Oregon State track program is technically a women's sport, for the past two seasons, members of the football team have competed for the track team. Jordan Bishop was the first student-athlete to be named All-American in track and field since 1986. Obum Gwacham competed in the triple jump and long jump during the 2011 season and Markus Wheaton has been known to compete in the sprint events. This season there will be five different football players competing during the track season. Gwacham and Wheaton will return to the track along with Keynan Parker, Brandin Cooks and Malcolm Marble.

High Jumping to History

During the 2010 and 2011 seasons Kristin Oenning made history by being the first female athlete since the program was reinstated to compete in a field event. However, this season she is not alone. The Beavers now have Rylee Marshall on the roster, who will specialize in the high jump this year.

The Distance Crew

The Oregon State track team differs from many large track programs around the country. The Beavers are a dominantly long distance team, and they do not compete in sprint events. There are only a handful of Beavers that compete in the 800-meter run, and that is the shortest event they compete in.

Keeping it Local

Although the Beavers are having to compete with the Ducks for talented student-athletes coming out of the state of Oregon, Oregon State is holding its own and has recruited a lot of talent locally. The Beavers currently have 22 student-athletes from Oregon on their roster. There are three athletes from Washington and three from Idaho. The rest of the roster includes athletes from California, British Columbia, Texas and Colorado.

Freshmen Talent

Head coach Kelly Sullivan has recruited one of the most talented freshman classes the Beavers have seen in many years. The class is highlighted by Kinsey Gomez, Aly Nielson and Kelsi Schaer. Gomez was the Gatorade Athlete of the Year for Idaho in 2010 and 2011 and she was the only freshman to compete at the NCAA West Regional for cross country this season.

Experience and Leadership

Although this is one of the largest freshmen classes Coach Sullivan has brought in, there is an abundance of leadership on the team with several returning upper-classmen with experience in the Pac-12. The Beavers are returning seniors Laura Carlyle, Marsha Lampi, Casey Masterson, and Hannah Soza-Hodgkinson to the track this spring, along with juniors Olivia Poblacion, Whitney Pitman, Taylor Hunt, Lorine Cruz and Natosha Buruse.

2011 Season Rewind

The Beavers are coming off of one of their most successful track seasons in Oregon State history. Oregon State football athlete Obum Gwacham made history for the Beavers when he competed in the triple jump. He was the first Beaver athlete to compete in that event since 1988. Laura Carlyle set school records for the indoor 3,000 meters and the outdoor 1,500 and 5,000 meters. She advanced to the NCAA West Regional and became the first female athlete to qualify for the NCAA Championships since the program was reinstated in 2005.
