The College World Series

- Oregon State has made a habit of becoming visitors to Omaha, the site of the College World Series. The Beavers made three consecutive trips to Rosenblatt Stadium from 2005-2007 and have been to the College World Series five times after their inaugural trip in 1952. The Beavers' most recent trip to Omaha came in 2013.
- Oregon State became just the fifth team in NCAA history to win consecutive titles when winning championships in 2006 and 2007. The Beavers were the first team in a decade to accomplish the feat and the first from the then-Pac-10 in almost 20 years.
- Oregon State is just the fifth team currently in the Pac-12 to reach the College World Series in three consecutive seasons.
- The Beavers became just the sixth league club to win the World Series by sweeping its entire way through Omaha. Oregon State went 5-0 in 2007, and trailed just one inning throughout the team's play in Omaha.
- A total of 26,887 fans came out to watch Oregon State's title-clinching 11-4 win over North Carolina in 2007. That total is the single-largest crowd to watch a championship series game in College World Series history. That series' championship game drew 25,012, the largest final game ever at Rosenblatt Stadium.
- In Oregon State's two championship seasons, the Beavers had 11 players named to the College World Series All-Tournament Team. That tied a Pac-10 record for most players over a two-year span.

Coaching Success

- Current head coach Pat Casey is one of many of Oregon State's successful head coaches. Casey is in his 21st season as head coach of the Beavers and enters the season with a program-record 715 victories, which places him in the top 10 in league history.
- Jack Riley, Casey's predecessor at Oregon State, previously held the school's record with 613 victories over a 22-year span. He won five titles with the Beavers during his tenure and posted 274 victories in Pac-10 play for a .731 winning percentage.

- Ralph Coleman spent 35 seasons in the Oregon State dugout through three different coaching stints. Until Riley overtook him, Coleman was the program's leader with 561 victories, including 279 against Pac-10 clubs. He won 10 conference titles during his 35-year tenure. Coleman still holds the school's record for career winning percentage at .640.
- All three historical coaches for the Beavers are ranked in the top 20 in Pac-12 coaching history. Casey is 10th all-time in victories, while Coleman is 17th and Riley is 14th.
- After winning two straight titles, Casey was recognized nationally. In 2006 and 2007, he won National Coach of the Year honors by various organizations.
- Coaching success doesn't just rest upon Oregon State head coaches. Three former Oregon State assistant coaches were named head coaches at their respective universities in 2008. Dan Spencer took over head coaching duties at Texas Tech while Gary Henderson was named the head coach at Kentucky. Donny Harrell was named the head coach at Seattle, which started play at the D-I level in 2010.
- Oregon State has three fine assistant coaches who will be in the dugout this season. Pat Bailey is in his eighth season as an Oregon State assistant. He has also tasted a national title after leading nearby George Fox to a Division III title in 2004.
- Pitching coach Nate Yeskie is in his seventh season with the Beavers. Oregon State's team ERA dropped nearly a run and a half in Yeskie's first season with OSU, and has been below 4.00 in five of his six years, including a school-record mark of 2.28 in 2013. Sam Gaviglio, Matt Boyd, Andrew Moore and Jace Fry have all earned Freshman All-America honors under Yeskie. Boyd, Moore, Gaviglio, Fry and Ben Wetzler have been named All-Americans during Yeskie's tenure.
- Andy Jenkins is back for his fourth season with the Beavers and the third as an assistant coach. Jenkins played on the Beavers' 2005 Pac-10 championship club and spent seven seasons in the Minor Leagues, reaching the Triple-A level in both 2009 and 2010.

Beavers In The Draft

- Oregon State has seen 34 players drafted over the past five seasons. Over the past 10 seasons, that number balloons to 68.
- In 2006, the Beavers had nine players chosen by Major League clubs, a single-year record.
- In 2007, Oregon State accomplished another first. Eddie Kunz and Mitch Canham were both selected in the first round, marking the first time two Beavers went in the draft's initial round in the same season.
- Under head coach Pat Casey, 34 players have been selected in the draft's top nine rounds. Of those 34 selections, 32 signed professional contracts and 15 are still playing with an affiliated organization at the conclusion of the 2013 season.
- Seven different Beavers have been selected in the first round of the draft, including Steve Lyons in 1981, Mike Thurman in 1994 and Jacoby Ellsbury in 2005. Michael Conforto is the most recent, in 2014, and his 10th overall selection is the best ever for an Oregon State player.

Professional Beavers

- In 2014, seven different former Oregon State players saw time with Major League clubs. Overall, the Beavers have had 28 players play at the game's highest level. And with 34 MLB selections the past five seasons, Oregon State is expecting to see more Major League debuts the next few seasons.
- Jacoby Ellsbury became Oregon State's first alum to win a World Series when he and the Boston Red Sox swept Colorado in 2007. Ellsbury, a rookie that season, batted .438 with four doubles and a stolen base in the series. Ellsbury recently set Boston's single-season stolen base record with 70 in 2009.
- Brian Barden was named the National League's Rookie of the Month for April of 2009. He was joined as NL Rookies of the Month when Darwin Barney (Chicago Cubs) was given the honor in April of 2011.

The Beavers celebrated their second consecutive national title in 2007

Jacoby Ellsbury signed with the New York Yankees prior to 2014

- Both Ellsbury (2011) and Barney (2012) have claimed Rawlings Gold Glove Awards during their tenures at the MLB level.
- Barden became Oregon State's first Olympian in 2008 and helped guide Team USA to a bronze medal the Beijing Olympics. Barden had made his Major League debut with Arizona in 2007 and also saw action with St. Louis and Florida through the end of the 2010 season.
- Seventeen former Beavers have competed in the prestigious Arizona Fall League. It's usually reserved for some of the game's top MLB prospects. Stefen Romero, Andrew Susac, Tyler Waldron, Sam Gaviglio and Kraig Sitton most recently played in the AFL in 2013.

All-Americans

- Oregon State has a proud history of having players recognized nationally with All-American honors. Twenty-five different Beavers have earned All-American honors.
- Of those 25 players, five have earned All-American status in two different seasons. Those players are Jay Dean in 1954 and 1955, Cecil Ira in 1962 and 1963, Dallas Buck and Jonah Nickerson in 2005 and 2006 and Michael Conforto in 2012, 2013 and 2014.
- Oregon State has seen a spike in All-Americans since Pat Casey took the helm in 1995. Under Casey, the Beavers have had 136 All-Americans, most recently with Michael Conforto, Ben Wetzler and Jace Fry, who all earned the honor in 2014.

Oregon State And Team USA

- Oregon State has begun a new tradition. Over the last nine seasons, the Beavers have had their first Olympian and eight other players who have been named to the Team USA National Team.
- In 2008, Brian Barden played in eight of Team USA's nine games in Beijing as the Red, White and Blue took home the bronze medal.

Kevin Gunderson was an All-American in 2006

- In 2005, teammates Kevin Gunderson and Jonah Nickerson became the first Beavers to play for the USA National Team.
- Darwin Barney became the third Beaver to play for Team USA in 2006.
- In 2008, Kevin Rhoderick became the fourth Oregon State player to earn a spot on the national team.
- Matt Boyd competed for the Collegiate National Team in 2011.
- Dan Child and Michael Conforto played for the Collegiate National Team in 2012. The club toured Cuba and The Netherlands.
- Conforto became the first Oregon State player to compete for the National Team twice when he was on the 2013 roster. He led Team USA with three home runs and helped the club to a five-game sweep of Cuba.
- Andrew Moore played for USA Collegiate Team in 2014, and recorded two wins for the red, white and blue.

One Of The Nation's Finest Ballparks

- That can certainly be the title bestowed upon Goss Stadium at Coleman Field as the venerable facility underwent an expansion during the 2008 season.
- Oregon State has played on its home site since 1907, the program's first year. And in 2009, Goss Stadium was expanded to its current state. In 2014, it was further expanded as a home clubhouse was erected beyond the left field fence.
- The ballpark now has 2,798 permanent seats and capacity can reach nearly 3,300 when temporary outfield seating is installed.
- Oregon State went 24-6 at home in 2014, in large part due to the support from Beaver Nation. OSU averaged just shy of 3,000 fans per game, which ranked the time first on the West Coast and 19th nationally.
- New features to the ballpark in 2009 include the Omaha Room, a club level down the right field line, and a new player's lounge adjacent to the third base dugout. The Beavers also installed a Hall of Fame Room and Academic Room, both of which are located underneath the club level.

On The Road

- Oregon State regularly plays to a big fan base wherever it travels. That was never more evident when Oregon State and Oregon set a Pac-12 Conference record with a crowd of 15,540 during the Civil War at PGE Park in 2009. The third game of the series subsequently drew 13,709, for a total of 29,249 over the two games.

Media Exposure

- Oregon State is one of the most media friendly teams in the nation and is regularly covered by a number of newspapers, television stations and radio stations.
- Oregon State has been the center of features by Baseball America, USA Today, Collegiate Baseball and many other national publications over the last few years.

- Oregon State will enjoy the Pac-12 Networks for the second year in 2014. The Pac-12 Networks broadcast solely Pac-12 sporting events across the nation.
- The Beavers enjoy one of the best radio packages on the West Coast. Every game this season is scheduled to air live on the Beaver Sports Network and online on Beaver Nation Online.
- In 2008, the Beavers, through the then-Pac-10, appeared on XM Radio three times during the season to reach a national audience.

The Pac-12 Conference

- Oregon State calls the Pac-12 Conference home and has so at various points since the 1916 season. The Beavers joined the conference for good in 1946.
- The Pac-12 is called the "Conference of Champions" for a reason. Arguably the nation's top collegiate baseball conference, it holds the national record with 28 national titles. That is 17 titles more than the second-place conference, the Big 12, which last won a title in 2005.
- At least one Pac-12 Conference team has appeared in the national title game or series in nine of the last 17 seasons.
- There have been 64 College World Series tournaments and Pac-12 clubs have finished first or second 43 times.
- At least one Pac-12 team has advanced to the College World Series in all but one season dating back to 1997.
- Pac-12 clubs have won 250 games all-time at the College World Series. The Pac-12 is the only conference to have won more than 170 games at the World Series.
- Seven of the Pac-12's 11 current baseball teams have won at least two national titles. USC leads the nation with 12, although the Trojans have not been national champions since the 1998 season.

Goss Stadium at Coleman Field, which has stood on the Oregon State campus since 1907, is now the oldest continuous ballpark in the nation. The Beavers have played at the site of Goss Stadium since the program began play more than 100 years ago.

The stadium itself has undergone numerous changes - including multiple renovations and expansions - but the playing field itself has stood in place since day one.

And just like day one, Goss, formerly known just as Coleman Field, has hosted games in front of one of the best fanbases in the nation.

Goss saw its third renovation over the past 15 years prior to the 2015 season. A new home clubhouse was built down the left field line, forcing the Beavers' bullpen to be moved beyond the fence in left field.

The new clubhouse gives the Beavers a new state-of-the-art locker room; a new coach's locker room and game-day coaching offices; a repurposed players lounge; a medical training area; a larger equipment room, a recruiting area and a hospitality deck. The hospitality deck will host "Banners" with a new concessions area that will pay homage to the team's successful past with championships and dogpiles.

The addition to the stadium comes on the heels of one of the most fantastic seasons at home for OSU in its history. The Beavers went 24-6 at Goss in 2014, and set a school record for the highest average attendance (2,931) in a single season. That mark stood as the 19th best nationally and was tops on the West Coast.

That was the second consecutive season the Beavers set a new mark. In 2013, Oregon State fans poured through the turnstiles in then-record numbers as the Beavers averaged 2,676 per game, or just more than 82,000 overall.

And for good reason as Beaver Nation came to see one of the best seasons in school history. The Beavers went 27-5 at Goss Stadium in 2013, tying a school record for most wins at home in a single season.

Oregon State is 1,134-474-1 at home since opening play in 1907, a winning percentage of .705. Since Goss' 1999 renovation, the Beavers are an astounding 287-121 (.703).

The Beavers have utilized the home field advantage in the last 10 seasons, in which Oregon State has gone to Omaha four times. Since 2005, OSU is 214-63 (.773). In the four years it has gone to Omaha over that stretch, the Beavers are an incredible 97-21 (.822).

In 2012, the Beavers went 18-6 at home and averaged nearly 2,000 fans as the club posted its fifth 40-win season in school history.

That continued the trend of packing the park and watching the Beavers utilize Goss as one of the Pac-12 Conference's toughest venues for opposing clubs.

The team hosted its fourth NCAA Regional in 2011, and the support the club received at its home diamond helped the Beavers to an NCAA Super Regional appearance.

Nearly 69,000 fans attended games at Goss Stadium in 2011, an average of 2,285 per, setting school records - at the time - for a single season. Oregon State went 23-7 at home, just the fifth time in program history the Beavers won 20 or more.

A project spearheaded by head coach Pat Casey expanded the stadium prior to the 2009 season and gave the ballpark a facelift. Nearly 1,000 seats were added down the left and right field lines, enabling more Oregon State fans to witness one of the top programs in the nation.

The seating addition is far from the only change fans saw beginning that year. A stadium suite, called the Omaha Room, looms over right field with seating for approximately 70. Modeled after the club level at football's Reser Stadium, it can also be used for team banquets and other various events.

Underneath the Omaha Room are two rooms -- an academic room and a Hall of Fame room. The academic room and Hall of Fame area are utilized to celebrate the fine history at Oregon State and to allow its current student-athletes the chance to excel in the classroom.

Last, but certainly not least, is a player's lounge located underneath the left field stands that gives Oregon State players the chance to relax before games and unwind afterwards.

The expansion completed a string of stadium upgrades as a video board located in right field was installed prior to the 2007 season. The board was the first of its kind in the then-Pacific-10 Conference and allows fans to watch replays and enjoy capabilities rivaled by Major League stadiums.

In each of the five seasons Oregon State has hosted a regional or super regional, each game, totaling 22 in all, surpassed the 2,000 mark in attendance. Also, the Beavers saw crowds of 3,000 or better in 21 of those 27 games.

Pat Casey, now in his 21st season at Oregon State, has especially taken advantage of Goss Stadium, using the fans' passions and his team's talents and turning them into wins. In his 20 previous seasons, Casey's clubs have posted a 351-137 (.719) mark at home. In 2005, Oregon State set a program record with 26 home wins. A year later, the Beavers set the record again, finishing with 27 wins at venerable Goss Stadium.

Casey, just one four coaches in the past 60 years at Oregon State, has seen two of the most significant stages of Goss Stadium. Previous to the 2009 expansion, in 1999, the park, then known just as Coleman

The stadium's videoboard was the first of its kind in the Pacific-10 (now Pac-12) Conference. Located in right center field, it was a welcome addition to the historic ballpark. Fans have the opportunity to watch replays, catch game highlights from past Oregon State victories and keep abreast of play in other conference games. As one of the few teams in the nation with a videoboard, the Beavers have the ability to provide a true gameday experience.

The park has an interesting history, to say the least.

When Oregon State began fielding a varsity baseball team in 1907, the school laid out a diamond on a lot just south of the main campus. A century later, that same site still serves as the home of the Beavers, making Goss Stadium at Coleman Field the oldest diamond in the Pac-12 Conference and the oldest college fields in the country.

Over the past century, the campus has grown around Goss Stadium at Coleman Field, making it one of the most picturesque settings in college baseball. The ballpark is a short walk down Waldo Place from the Memorial Union and OSU's central campus area, making it easy for students to stop by a game between classes.

Field, saw a major renovation. That renovation brought improved seating areas, a new press box and improved locker rooms and dugouts.

Over the past 15 years, Goss Stadium saw other improvements. In the spring of 2002, lights were added to the ballpark, making night games a possibility. And prior to the 2007 season, a new scoreboard with video replay capabilities went up in right-center field. During that same period, the Beavers got a new playing surface in the infield as FieldTurf was installed. The outfield remains natural grass.

The field is named for former Oregon State player and coach Ralph Coleman, who guided the Beavers for 35 seasons from 1923-66. The stadium is named for John and Eline Goss, whose major lead gift to the $2.3-million fundraising effort made the project possible.

John Goss was an Oregon State track and field letterman in the 1930s. The naming of the stadium is also a memorial to his older brother, James Goss, an Oregon State graduate.

3/17/99 vs. Portland

The Goss family made additional contributions to OSU toward endowed scholarships for student/athletes and other top academic students, including graduates of Portland's Grant High and members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

The park is symmetrical, measuring 330 feet down the foul lines, 365 to the power alleys and 400 to center. The fence is 14 feet high from left field to left-center, then eight feet high from left-center to right field.

The concrete, steel and brick structure has a press box, a lobby/concession area, restrooms, locker rooms, dugouts and storage areas. The stadium was designed to complement the architecture of the surrounding campus, and to evoke the aura of baseball's historic parks.

The first game after the addition of Goss Stadium to Coleman Field was on March 12, 1999, when defending national champion Southern California topped the Beavers 5-2. The stadium was dedicated on April 17, 1999 as OSU beat California 11-5 before a crowd of 1,246 and a national cable television audience.

The ballpark saw its first night game on April 26, 2002, as the Beavers beat fourth-ranked Stanford 3-1. A set of lights meeting professional Class Triple-A standards was installed that spring thanks to the generosity of longtime OSU boosters Bert and Shirley Babb.

Goss Stadium at Coleman Field has batting cages behind the left-field fence. When conditions call for indoor practice, the Beavers head for OSU's Truax Indoor Practice Facility, which opened in August, 2001. The team's players can also head to the McAlexander Fieldhouse, which was renovated in 2011 to provide the Beavers with two new batting cages that are available year-round. The Fieldhouse is located across a small parking lot beyond left field.

The addition of Goss Stadium to Coleman Field ended years of speculation over whether the Beavers would be able to remain playing baseball at their longtime home.

As Oregon State expanded, land near the center of campus became scarce and the school's master plan called for the site to eventually be turned over to academic uses.

In 1961, The Oregonian newspaper noted: "In the not-too-distant future, Oregon State baseball hopefuls won't have railroad tracks as a long-distance batting target. Coleman Field will eventually hold no basepaths, only buildings in this era of construction for higher education. Already one classroom building for this site is beyond the drawing board stage."

For over 30 years, that possibility prevented any major improvements to Coleman Field. Long-term plans for the OSU campus called for moving the baseball field southeast of the intersection of Western Boulevard and 26th Street.

In 1996, the baseball program explored building a press box and storage/concession building at Coleman Field. The possibility of building a stadium was also looked into, and that gradually became the goal of the baseball program and many Beaver boosters.

The generous donation from the Goss family was the key to a private fundraising effort in the late 1990s. The ballpark's name was amended to Goss Stadium at Coleman Field in their honor in 1999.
